The organization has responded to a general desire that it should be non-partisan, by including gentlemen of all parties. While its president is an independent republican, the chairman of the executive committee is a life-long democrat. Its published list of officers contains republicans and democrats, independent democrats and independent republicans and independents who are neither distinctively democrats or republican.

Expenses $73,000,000, and net income, $61,000,000. Passenger business paid $34,000,000, freight, [illegible]. There were 257 persons killed, and 706 injured by the roads. The highest gross earnings in any previous year was in 1873, when they were $110,[illegible], and in the same year the net earnings were [illegible]. Six of the roads carried over 9,000,000 [illegible] in one year. Some of the roads doubled their earnings over the preceding year.

[illegible] Anne Morgan, wife of Peter Morgan, was found frozen dead just outside her own door this morning. She had been made crazy from intoxicants [illegible] from the house during the night to procure liquor, which when obtained stupefied her and left her unable to get inside the house.

The coroner gave a verdict of suicide, but there is some indication of murder.

Ord, upon notification of his retirement from his command of the department of Texas and the active army, vacated his office at headquarters and ordered assistant adjutant general Vincent to report to Gen. [illegible] and Foster on Good Terms.

New York, Dec. 8.—The Tribune has interviewed [illegible] Sherman, who says that he and Foster, so [illegible] being enemies, have been and are friends. [illegible] Foster was one of his heartiest supporters in [the] Chicago convention. He had at first believed [illegible] was not heartily supporting him, but had [been] convinced that this was false. Foster had paid [illegible] hotel bills in Chicago voluntarily, although [he] refunded the money provided by him (Sherman) [for the] purpose. Any contest for the senatorship [illegible] them would be conducted in a proper spirit [illegible] political or personal controversy would arise.

Vote for Hancock and English.

[illegible], Dec. 8.—The presidential electors of [illegible] to-day cast the vote of the state for Hancock [and] English.

MILITARY MATTERS.

Retirement of Gen. Ord and Promotion of Gen. Miles.

[illegible] "on the Hooks"—Garfield's Influence in the Contention—Sherman Disgusted, Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Dec. 7.

The president yesterday sent a list of nominations [for] vacancies on the army retired list to the senate, but that body adjourned so early that they did not reach the capitol in time. At the head of the list, it is understood, stands the name of Major General Ord. This action was taken chiefly because Sherman insisted that if Ord went [illegible] should go, too, so as to treat all alike. [illegible] the only brigadier named from the line [illegible], are reported to be Inspector General [illegible] Meigs and Rucker from the quarter[master's] department, General Barnes from the medical department, Advocate General Dunn and Col. [illegible] in charge of the national soldiers' [home]. Each are eleven in all, and 30 colonels and [illegible] colonels available for retirement under [illegible] which the roll may be completed. The [promotion] of Gen. Miles as brigadier to the vacancy caused by the retirement of Gen. Ord [illegible]. It is believed that Miles will be [assigned] to command the department of the [Columbia], vacant by the retirement of Gen. Mc[Dowell]. Gen. Schofield would be eligible to place [illegible] asked for a year's leave of absence. [illegible] years of age. Howard possibly will [be made] a major general.

[illegible] positively in high official quarters [that] McDowell will not be retired. Ord's [friends], including Gen. Sherman, are very much [illegible] at the turn things are taking for they [illegible] Ord should not be retired unless McDowell [illegible] interceding the older man of the two. [illegible] that the power behind the throne [is] McDowell, is President Garfield's [friend]. They are fast friends and McDowell traveled [with him] the Pacific slope to the Atlantic states to vote [illegible]. It is said that Garfield was named [illegible]. Sherman's friendship for Ord dates [back many] years, they having served in the same [army] together in early life. In the matter of [the retirement] of Gen. Sherman the general has lately [been] stated to intimate friends that he should [retire on] his 61st birthday, which occurs in April [next], by voluntarily retiring from the army [illegible] on three-fourths pay, which is about [illegible] a year. That will give Sheridan a chance to [command] the army, although the office of general [illegible] expires with Sherman's retirement, [illegible] if he should retire as contemplated it is [illegible] that congress will revive the office again [illegible] it to Grant, unless provision is made for [illegible] that time, which is more than probable [illegible] among members of congress there is on [illegible] unanimity on the subject.

THE BUSINESS BOOM.

Clearing House Statements and Comment by the New York "Public."

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York, Dec. 8.—The Public's table to-morrow will show business transactions for the week as compared with the same time last year by means of clearing house returns. The following towns lost: Milwaukee 22 per cent; Philadelphia 8; San Francisco 19.1. All others have gained as follows: New York 35; Boston 21; Chicago 44; Cincinnati 13; Baltimore 2.1; St. Louis 12.1; New Orleans 1.4; Louisville 5.8; Pittsburg 10.2; Providence 1.6; Kansas City 44.5; Indianapolis 19; Cleveland 11; New Haven 10; Syracuse 9; Lowell 4.0. It is hardly likely that the rest of the month of December will see this prodigious movement continued without abatement. Cold stormy weather stoppage of navigation, approach of the holidays and condition of the money market will all contribute to cause some diminution in transactions. Already it has been apparent here that the speculative movement of the last week could not be continued without some rest if not reaction. Deducting twice the market value of stocks sold the other exchanges at New York reached the enormous amount of $750,250,[illegible], and the average value of stocks sold was about $75 per share. Much of the remaining exchanges here and much of the exchanges at Chicago was due to speculative operations in grain and other products, but the week and month may not be equalled in amount of transactions for a long time to come. The aggregate outside of New York sometimes regarded as the best indication of the volume of legitimate business, is far beyond that of any previous week.

Speaking of business for a month the Public says: Exchanges in November amounted to $5,724,080,[illegible]. The vast increase of traffic is not confined to New York. Philadelphia and San Francisco are the only cities at which even the extraordinary transactions of November 1879, are not surpassed. At San Francisco recovery seems commenced for the decrease in exchanges is insignificant. In a few cities the gain is small, but in most cases the increase is large and the transactions for November far exceeded those of any other month since the clearing houses began their work. Indeed the great wave of commercial activity is felt already on the other side of the Atlantic for the largest exchanges ever known in a single day were those of Nov. 18th at London. The Paris clearing house, which reports monthly, shows an increase of activity in October.

MAIL LETTINGS.

The Dalles-Portland Route Let to Captain John Harlow.

At noon yesterday, sealed bids were opened by Deputy Postmaster Chittenden and Capt. B. B. Tuttle of the postal service for the purpose of awarding the contract for carrying the United States mail from Portland to The Dalles, and from that point to this city, during the suspension of navigation. Several sealed proposals were opened, and Capt. John Harlow being the lowest bidder, was awarded the contract. By the terms of the contract, Capt. Harlow is required to carry all the United States mail—except registered letters and packages. He is required to maintain, during the closing of the Columbia service three times a week between Portland and The Dalles and intermediate points. For such service he is allowed $250 for each round trip, or at the rate of $40,000 per annum.

After the contract was awarded Capt. Harlow, it was the intention for him to start out with the mail yesterday, at 4 P. M. However, to sort out the mail for the up river, and get it in proper condition for the long and rugged overland trip, was no small task for the post office officials. Capt. Harlow did not like to start out just at nightfall so he concluded not to leave here until this morning at 5 o'clock. Large quantities of mail matter have accumulated at the postoffice here during the freeze—probably not less than 1500 pounds. Of course it will be beyond the power of the contractor to carry that amount clear through the first trip. All or most of this mail will be conveyed this morning by wagon to Capt. Harlow's farm—Troutdale—over on Sandy. At that point the mail will be transferred to pack horses and carried to the Cascades. Yesterday Capt. Harlow telegraphed Mr. Moody, of the Dalles, instructing him to start at once a trusty man from there with the mail. The carrier from here will meet the one from above at the Dalles where the mails will be exchanged.

The contract could not have been given into trustier hands than Capt. Harlow's. With characteristic energy he will push matters and send the mails through as fast as horses can carry them.

PORTLAND AND VANCOUVER.

The contract for carrying the mail between Portland and Vancouver during the closing of the river, was awarded to Mr. Patrick Cooney, of East Portland, yesterday. The contractor is required to make six trips each week (Sunday excepted) and is allowed $5.50 for each round trip. Mr. Cooney will leave here this morning for Vancouver with the mail.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Appointments by the President.

The president has sent to the senate the following nominations: Associate justices of the supreme court for New Mexico, Warren Bristol; for Arizona, W. H. Stillwell of New York; for Utah, Stephen P. Twiss of Missouri; for consul at Guyaquil, Phanor M. Eder of Nevada; Col. Nelson A. Miles, 5th infantry, to be brigadier general; Gen. Ord, retired; Col. Wm. B. Hazen, 6th infantry, to be chief signal officer with rank of brigadier general.

The president has nominated Henry W. Dwight register of the land office at LaGrande, Oregon.

No More Silver Wanted.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Secretary Sherman refuses to heed the urgent requests of bond holders that he pay them in something else than silver and he will continue to pay ten per cent silver dollars to government employes, bondholders, etc. It is legal, and he will not hear complaint.

Sherman and the New Refunding Scheme.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Advices this afternoon say that Secretary Sherman, while thinking his own recommendations respecting refunding are better than those of the committee on ways and means, will offer no obstacles to the establishment of 3 per cent as the rate of interest for refunding bonds. The advices had a marked effect here upon governments, which were strong and ¼ higher for 5s and 6s, ⅝@1 per cent for 4½s, 1⅛@1⅜ per cent higher for 4s.

Bill to Relieve Technical Deserters.

Ben Butterworth to-day drew up a bill to relieve the 1,600 men who left the army after the surrender of Lee and Johnston, and thus technically became deserters having neglected to be mustered out after ending the war.

A Bill to Provide Fractional Currency.

Senator Ingalls introduced a bill to-day providing for the issue of not over ten millions of fractional currency of denominations of ten, twenty-five and fifty cents. There is a very general impression among congressmen that the people would like a little of this kind of currency for use in mails, but the [illegible] is preferred.

The Ute Question Again.

The Ute question promises to become prominent again. No less than three bills of various kinds referring to the controversy were introduced to-day. It seems that the Colorado people want to get rid of them altogether and Senator Hill introduced a bill to give the Southern and Uncompahgre Utes land in Utah on the Uintah reservation instead of in Colorado, as provided by agreement.

A senate bill to set apart the Hot Springs, [illegible], for national purposes completed the list on that subject.

These bills were referred to a committee.

New Postmaster for the House.

A caucus of democratic members was held in the hall of the house of representatives immediately after adjournment for the purpose of naming a successor to Stewart, late postmaster of the house. W. [illegible] Bowlen, present assistant postmaster, was selected.

The California Members at Work.

Washington, Dec. 8.—In anticipation of an early [illegible] of the appropriation of the annual river and harbor bill to the house committee on commerce, Representatives Page and Berry have been actively at work to-day impressing upon individual members of the committee the importance of making liberal provision for improvements of the rivers and harbors of California. They feel hopeful that [illegible] will be done by the committee for the benefit of California [illegible] this winter than ever before. [illegible] be used to obtain passage of the debris bill which is now on the house calendar.

Teller's Ute Bill.

The bill introduced by Senator Teller to amend the act [illegible] the Ute treaty provides [illegible] for the [illegible] thereof [illegible] of the public domain recently [illegible] that the commissioners may if they deem proper select [illegible] lands for the [illegible] outside of the state instead of being practically limited to lands within its boundaries, [illegible] that the reservation of the [Hot] springs and four square miles surrounding them shall be repealed.

Bill Relative to Taxes Illegally Collected.

Senator Kernan introduced a bill in the senate to-day directing the commissioner of internal revenue [to] refund all taxes collected upon capital employed by any person in the business of banking which comes within the principles of a decision by the United States supreme court, in the case of Bailey [illegible] vs. Clark et al. The bill provides that application for such refund shall be presented to the commissioner of internal revenue within one year from the passage of the act.

The Proposed 3 per cent Loan.

Secretary Sherman announced that he will do his best [illegible] 3 per cent bonds, though he thinks [illegible] [illegible] the matter [illegible] [illegible] pretty general [illegible] among members [illegible] [illegible] through the [illegible] session.

Resignation of Capt. Howgate.

Capt. H. W. Howgate of the signal service has tendered his resignation to [illegible]. It will [illegible] to-morrow [illegible].

Rumored Alliance of Democrats and Greenbackers.

New York, Dec. 8.—A Herald's Washington dispatch says [illegible] leading democrats in the house [illegible] the [illegible] for an alliance [illegible] of the next house by making an alliance with the greenbackers and [illegible] for the speakership.

SOUTH AMERICA.

All Peaceful in Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 8.—The city of Buenos Ayres has been selected as the definitive capital of the republic and peace is permanently insured.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

Morgan introduced a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment authorizing congress to establish a tribunal [to] [illegible] all matters concerning the electoral vote and declaring the result of the election for president and vice president, [illegible] such laws [illegible] to be changed or repealed within a year before an election occurs in any state.

With the doors were opened Randolph gave notice of the following amendment in the nature of a substitute to the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter:

Be it enacted, etc. That the president is hereby authorized in his discretion to reinstate to the army Fitz John Porter, who was dismissed by sentence of court martial January 19th, 1863, provided however that such reinstatement shall give no higher rank than colonel on the retired list, and provided further that the said Porter receives no pay, compensation or allowance for time intervening between his dismissal and his restoration.

Teller introduced a bill providing certain regulations concerning the manner of conducting congressional elections and public violations thereof.

Davis of West Virginia offered a resolution reciting the constitutional requirement that a new apportionment be made after each census, and instructing the secretary of the interior to communicate to the senate returns of the population of the respective states of the union as ascertained by the 10th census. Agreed to.

Paddock introduced a bill for admission of Dakota into the union.

Adjourned.

House.

F. Wood agreed to postpone the funding bill until pending debate on the electoral count was concluded.

Wood moved to dispense with the morning hour, defeated and committee reports were called for, but nothing important reported.

Cook introduced a joint resolution authorizing the president to place U. S. Grant on the retired army list with the rank and pay of general as a recognition of his services. Referred.

The bill relieving J. M. Hershill, of Maryland from political disability passed, but Conger said that be understood it had another object and asked that it be retained on the speaker's table. So ordered.

Buckner, from the banking committee, introduced the following substitute for the funding bill, referred to the ways and means committee:

Be it enacted, etc. First—In lieu of bonds authorized to be issued by act of June 14, 1880, entitled an act to authorize the re-funding of the national debt and acts amendatory thereof, the secretary of the treasury is hereby authorized to issue treasury notes of the United States in amount of not more than $600,000,000, in denominations of not less than $10, and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding 3 per cent per annum, of which notes not more than $40,000,000 shall mature each year from date of their issue, and said notes shall be disposed of by the secretary at not less than par and the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of 5 and 6 per cent bonds of the United States maturing during the year 1881, or the secretary may exchange said treasury notes for said bonds on such terms as he deems most advantageous to the United States.

Second—That the secretary of the treasury is authorized to make suitable regulations for disposing of said treasury notes to the best advantage of the government, and all expenses attending the same shall not exceed one quarter of one per cent of notes so disposed of or exchanged.

Third—That the sum of $100,000 of coin in the treasury of the United States be set apart as a fund for the redemption of notes known as legal tender notes, and any surplus of coin over and above said sum and belonging to the United States remaining in the treasury used in the purchase or redemption, on account of the sinking fund, of any said 6 per cents maturing in the year 1881.

The house then resumed consideration of the senate concurrent resolution relative to the electoral count.

Williams and Robeson discussed the electoral resolution. The latter made a constitutional argument of some length on the same line as yesterday, answering Hunton. He said that the vice president had no authority to decide judicially whether any set of certificates presented were false or not, nor had the two houses of congress that right. This might perhaps create a tribunal for such cases.

Hunton made a brief speech and Cox asked what effect the house would be powerless in case the electoral votes of New York should be changed from Garfield and Arthur to Hancock and English some time while in transit between Albany and Washington. How would the question of forgery be determined?

Robeson said that this question was whether the president had the power to count the votes. If they were in legal form it was the duty of the vice president to open them according to law and his action was subject to judicial revision. Thereafter congress had a right to provide the revisory power beforehand, but if they failed, then the ministerial act must stand unquestioned. After being sharply interrogated by various members and by others, aside most of the queries as being puerile he gave notice that he would offer the following as a substitute for the concurrent resolution:

Resolved, That the two houses will assemble in the chamber of the house of representatives on the second Wednesday in February, 1881, at 12 o'clock; that the president of the senate shall be presiding officer; that two persons shall be appointed tellers on the part of the senate and two on the part of the house of representatives to make a list of the votes as they shall be declared; that the result shall be declared by the president of the senate, who shall announce the state of the vote and the persons elected, to the two houses assembled as aforesaid, which announcement, together with the list of votes, shall be entered on the journals of the two houses.

Reagan gave notice that as the pending matter was disposed of he would ask for consideration of the inter state commerce bill.

AN INTERNATIONAL QUESTION.

The Captain of a Mexican Vessel in San Francisco Bay Alleges Responsibility to the State Authorities.

San Francisco, Dec. 8.

A few days ago a Mexican, named Clodomiro Cota, was arrested under extradition on a charge of felony. A writ of habeas corpus got out, and the judge of the superior court ordered the commander of the Mexican gunboat Democrata, to whose charge the prisoner was turned over, to produce him in court. The commander refused, alleging want of jurisdiction. The court then sent a sheriff to the gunboat with two warrants—one for Clodomiro and the other for the arrest of the commander for contempt of court. From the fact that no report has been received from the sheriff's party, it is inferred that he has met with difficulty in carrying out the orders of the court.

Later—The sheriff and party returned from a visit to the Mexican gunboat Democrata at [illegible] of past [illegible]. Two boats with Sheriff Desmond and two deputies, Cotta's brother and a number of representatives of the press left [illegible] about half past seven. On arriving within about half a cable length of the Democrata they were hailed and [illegible] [illegible] swivel gun was trained on the boat and a party of marines [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the sheriff was transferred [illegible] [illegible] ashore.

MURDERS AND OUTRAGES IN IRELAND.

The English Cabinet Divided on the Question of Coercion—The Land League Dominant, etc., etc.

[illegible]

London, Dec. 8.—Mr. Shaw Lefevre, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the situation [illegible] in Ireland [illegible] [illegible]. He said that the government could [not] afford to permit disorder to continue in Ireland, and he assured his hearers that measures to put an end to it would be introduced in parliament as soon as parliament met.

While the crown prosecutor was leaving a court room in Limerick Monday he was assaulted by a street mob because he defended a man to whom the land league is opposed but the managed to escape with slight personal injury. There are land league cases on trial in Limerick just now but it is said that the prosecutor was their party for the purpose of [illegible] indictments against several persons.

Mulholland, a bailiff who attempted to execute a decree against a tenant in the town of Ballingarry, County Tipperary, was attacked by a man named Graham who shot him dead after a few words of argument. Graham made his escape and all the tenantry thereabout are friendly to him. They will do what they can to keep him from the police. His immediate arrest is therefore very doubtful. In Kilrush, County Clare the fronts of shops where land leaguers may purchase goods are being decorated with the letters "L. L."

A man named Acheson, who has been long prominent in the land league at Portadown, county Armagh, has received a letter in which he is threatened with death unless he withdraws from the organization and ceases to address the people on the land question.

One Naugle, a tenant farmer residing near Omagh, county Tyrone in the heart of the protestant province of Ulster, has just been sentenced to 20 years penal servitude for shooting at a landlord who was also a magistrate.

An urgent home rule whip is out for the coming meeting of parliament, inasmuch as the government have signified their intention of keeping the indicted Irish members in Dublin during the state trials which will be called about the time parliament meets. It is reasonable to suppose that other Irish members propose to stand by them in the fight they intend to make for their parliamentary rights and every effort will be made to impede the business of the house of commons until Parnell and his indicted fellow members are allowed to take their seats.

The lord lieutenant of Ireland has written a letter to Chief Justice May of the Irish queen's bench censuring him for the intemperate speech delivered on the occasion of his refusal to grant postponement of the Irish state trials.

Messrs. O'Kelly, Dillon and Biggar have written Forster saying that Lord Rossmore, in fulfillment of his threats to oppose a land meeting at Lisnaskea, Thursday, has arrived at Enniskillen with a body of armed men who intend to attack the meeting and they call on the government to protect the assemblage.

A bailiff was shot dead near Caledon, Tyrone, while attempting to execute a decree. The man against whom the decree was issued and who fired the shot escaped.

A Protestant rector issued the following notice: "Men of Ulster. Some evil disposed person desiring to stir up strife and cause bloodshed, has posted up a notice calling upon Protestant tenant farmers to oppose at the land meeting on Tuesday next Roman Catholic tenant farmers with whom his interests are identical. As your true friend I call upon you to treat with contempt such advice. Too long has creed been hounded against creed in this unhappy land."

Solicitor Connolly defended a gamekeeper against a charge of shooting at a [illegible] at Mitroe. When Connolly left the court a crowd of people numbering a thousand gathered around him, hooting and groaning vigorously and raising their sticks in the air. The state of affairs became so threatening that Connolly had to seek shelter in a house. The doors were closed and it was with the utmost difficulty that those within prevented the forcible entry of the populace. While the uproar was at its height the local secretary of the league appeared and informed the people that Connolly was prepared to make an apology for the part he had taken against the people in the past and would not do anything to thwart them in the future. Shortly afterward Connolly appeared and mounting a chair expressed sorrow that he was engaged professionally for a land owner who it was alleged had made himself obnoxious to the people. He promised that he would never again serve an ejectment for rent. This apology however did not allay the anger of the populace, and officers of the league had to form a cordon to protect him from their fury. Mud was slung at Connolly's [illegible] were brandished over his head and one blow dealt him. Opprobrious epithets were applied to him as he was escorted with some difficulty away from Mitroe.

Land Leaguers' Meeting.

Dublin, Dec. 8.—At the meeting of the land league to-day, T. D. Sullivan vehemently attacked Chief Justice May, who he said had done more to prejudice the trial of the traversers than the articles of the Evening Mail. He protested against the traversers submitting to be tried by the Chief Justice and recommended the [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] proposed a resolution that the land league recommend its representatives in Parliament to bring the language of the Chief Justice before the house of commons immediately after the Queen's speech.

An address to the people of Ulster asking their assistance in the agitation, which the address declares is unsectarian, was adopted.

A Strong Charge.

Dublin, Dec. 7.—The judge in charging the grand jury in opening the Cork assizes for the county of Munster to-day said that some districts were reduced to anarchy bordering on civil war. The whole population was apparently armed and outrages were alarmingly numerous.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

LOCKE, by Thomas Fowler, Professor of Logic in the University of Oxford. New York, Harper & Brothers. For sale by A. L. Bancroft & Co. San Francisco.

This is the latest addition to the English Men of Letters edited by John Morley. In the entire series we have found no performance more satisfactory than this account of the great English philosopher. The events of Locke's life are related with sufficient fullness, clearness and simplicity. His essay on the Human Understanding is analyzed lucidly, a tolerably complete view is given of his other works, and his influence on thought is weighed soberly and judiciously. What Locke did and what his life and labors teach are not overstated in the concluding words of the book:

He raised questions which stirred the very depths of human thought. And this he did in a spirit so candid, so tolerant, so liberal and so unselfish, that he seemed to be writing not for his own party or his own times but for the future of knowledge and of mankind. To sound every question to the bottom, never to allow our convictions to outstrip our evidence, to throw aside all prejudices and all interests in the pursuit of truth, but to hold the truth, when found in all clarity and with all consideration towards those who have been less fortunate than we—these are the lessons which faithfully transmitted through two centuries by those who had eyes to see and ears to hear, he has bequeathed to us and our posterity.

A higher eulogium on any man could hardly be pronounced. Locke has an interesting connection with our history in having been connected with the drawing up "The Fundamental Constitutions of Carolina," under which that colony began its existence. He has been credited by Bancroft and others with being the sole author of the Fundamental Constitutions. But Prof. Fowler is of the opinion that many of the articles of the "Constitutions," embodying as they do a sort of modified feudalism must have been distasteful to Locke and that it is hardly possible to suppose that he was the originator of them. It is suggested, however, that we may trace his hand in the articles on religion, which agree in the main with the views expressed in his published works and unpublished papers. Prof. Fowler in giving us a sketch of Locke's life is not forgetful of the fact that he made the world his debtor quite as much by his essay "On Toleration" as by that "On the Human Understanding." If by the one he gave us correct notions of the mind and its faculties by the other he gave us correct notions of human liberty.

A HISTORY OF OUR OWN TIMES, from the Accession of Queen Victoria to the General Election of 1880. By Justin McCarthy. Vol. II. New York: Harper & Brothers. For sale by A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco.

The English edition of this work in four volumes is comprised in two volumes of this excellent edition. The present volume therefore concludes the work. It surpasses expectations raised by the preceding one. For there is shown in this final volume a rare skill in handling contemporaneous events, many of which excited fierce political passions. Yet over this dangerous ground the historian walks in safety. His treatment of the lofty facts of the two opposing parties in Great Britain is singularly impartial and his portraits of the two great chiefs of those parties are drawn with remarkable fairness. It is evident indeed that our author's sympathies are more with Mr. Gladstone than with Lord Beaconsfield, but the latter is treated always with respect and full justice is done to his extraordinary career. The most elaborate portrait in the history is that of Lord Palmerston, to whom is devoted an entire chapter. With no little acuteness is the character of Palmerston dissected and the result does not place him very high. His [illegible] love for England—a love that continued unabated during his whole life—is conceded, but it is maintained that he ought to have loved justice and right even more than he loved England. The conclusion is that Lord Palmerston is hardly to be called a great man. Perhaps he may be called a great man of the time. Mr. McCarthy's pointed style keeps his readers wide awake and makes his history deeply interesting. He is eminently successful in bringing into bold relief some striking incident of the time of which he is treating and in contrasting prominent persons of the time. A good instance of his success in both these respects is seen in the opening chapters of his third volume, where he compares the reception in England of two foreigners who have taken rank among the foremost men of our age.

About this same time Mr. Cyrus W. Field, an energetic American merchant, came over to this country to explain to its leading merchants and scientific men a plan he had for constructing an electric telegraph line under the Atlantic. Mr. Field had held this idea strongly in his mind for some years, and he made a strenuous effort to impress the English public with a conviction of its practicability. He was received by the merchants of Liverpool on November 1856, in their exchange rooms, and he made a long statement explaining his views which were listened to with polite curiosity. Mr. Field had however a much better reception on the whole than M. [illegible] Lesseps, who came to England a few months later to explain his project for constructing a ship canal across the Isthmus of Suez. The project was received with cold doubts and more than coldness by financiers, capitalists and politicians. Engineers showed that the canal could not be made, or at least maintain[ed] when made; capitalists proved that it would never pay, and politicians were ready to make it plain that such a canal if made, would be a standing menace to English interests. Mr. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the manner in which Lord Palmerston denounced the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] M. de Lesseps was a person of [illegible] discouraged.

In a subsequent chapter the story of the laying of the several Atlantic cables is graphically and [illegible] told. While mentioning a previous attempt by some Englishmen named Brett in 1845 to induce the British government to aid them in laying an electric wire between Europe and America, historical truth is thus amply vindicated.

But the achievement of the Atlantic cable was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the work of Mr. Cyrus [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] America was that of Co[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] inspiring example of patient, [illegible] courage and perseverance [illegible] [illegible] feat.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the Afghan war and the war with Abyssinia [illegible]. Begins with Soldiers Landing [illegible] [illegible]. The history is concluded [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the second survey of [illegible]. [illegible] [illegible]

In the Mussel Slough case U. S. Marshal Poole took the stand to-day and told the story of the shooting substantially as heretofore reported. He identified defendants Patter on, Pryor and Braden as among the band of armed men who surrounded him at the time of the tragedy. Counsel for defendants foreshadowed his line of defence, stating that he expected to show that Hart and Crow went down there with the intent to commit murder if necessary, were there without authority and not to aid Marshal Poole, but for a very different purpose.

ERUPTION OF MAUNA LOA.

A Magnificent Pyrotechnic Display—Mighty Stream of Molten Lava.

We had by telegraph a few days since from San Francisco the announcement from Honolulu that the volcano of Mauna Loa was in active eruption. The Hawaiian Gazette now received, contains this account of it from a correspondent:

About half past twelve the fog lifting, two of us went up the side of the hill toward Puia, to see the sight and what a sight it was. Almost under our feet lay the end of the flow slowly pushing its way along through the sea of fire. The whole stream lay before us. Soon the moon set, and still it was light enough to see to read. Away above us in the heavens shone the brilliant fountain head, and from thence to the end was a continuous stream of liquid lava, brighter by far than fire, as we could see how pale a fire looked in comparison whenever a bush took fire and burnt alongside. There lay a river of fire before us at least thirty miles long, every inch of which was one brilliant rolling tide of fire. There was not a single break in the whole length. It divided about a mile from the top and ran down forming a parallelogram, joined again and ran five miles below. The whole front edge, being about three-fourths of a mile wide, was a most intensely brilliant light and as it slowly advanced and rolled over the small trees and scrub bright flames would flash up and die out along its whole edge. As we sat there in the cool still night watching it, every now and then a report as of a cannon broke on the still air all along the whole line of fire, caused I suppose by the heating of air under the new lava in the old lava caverns and bursting up through the crust. Then, too, occasionally a deep but loud rumbling noise would almost start us from our seats, evidently coming from the deep recesses of the old mountain, as if it was sputtering forth its fiery flood. The cannonade was very frequent, now right close to us and again coming from a distance away up the side of the mountain. It could compare the whole view with nothing but like a streak of chain lightning frozen in its tracks, as the fire seemed to come out of the heavens, it was so far above us. As we sat there watching it, all at once a huge dome of molten lava was thrown up about half way up the mountain side, and continued to flow over like an immense fountain as long as we watched it. We also saw another stream of lava start from the fountain head and run right along the top ridge of the mountain for about two miles and then apparently stop. There was no fountain throwing up lava on the top of the mountain, only a steady rushing stream. About half past 2 we descended to camp and turned in for a few hours sleep.

THE NEW INDIAN BONDS.

One-Fifth of the Total Amount Floated at a Premium—The "Thunderer" Compliments the United States.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

London, Dec. 8.—Tenders for £3,500,000 of India 3½ per cent stock were opened yesterday. Applications amounted to over £11,500,000, varying from the minimum of 98 to 104½. Tenders at £103 [illegible] will receive about 71 per cent of the amount. Bids for those above that figure will receive the amounts bid for in full. The financier in discussing the foregoing in connection with the redemption of the American debt says:

The United States will be apt to rate its credit at at least equal to that of India. It may be questioned whether, on the basis of the coming loan for refunding bonds falling due next year the secretary of the treasury will be so liberal as to give 3½ per cent when he can evidently float bonds at a lower rate. The success of the loan has strengthened the market for all first-class investments, but prices are somewhat restrained by rumors that £500,000 in gold will be taken to-day or Thursday for New York, an operation which would render an advance of bank rate Thursday to 3 per cent possible.

The Times, in a financial article, says: The finances of the United States may excite the envy not only of England, but of Europe. The unprecedented rate of redemption is having its natural effect in raising the credit of the United States to a level with the most staid and best paying communities of the old world. In reaching that level the United States will only attain its rightful position. A country which is so faithful to its engagements, whose resources are so limitless and whose population increases with such remarkable rapidity, ought to enjoy the best credit accorded to any state. In all probability, should conditions remain favorable Secretary Sherman will accomplish his refunding operations at a rate nearer 3 than 4 per cent.

It is about as hard to find a girl whose marriage is announced in the newspapers who isn't "beautiful and accomplished" as it is to find a man who has just died who wasn't "honored and respected by all who knew him."

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING DEC 9 1880

DISCOVERED AT LAST

At last the general land office has discovered through the investigations of a special agent a fraud which has long been notorious in Oregon. It is in relation to the Willamette valley and Cascade mountain military wagon road land grant. Here is a case where 800 000 acres of land have been given away ostensibly for construction of a wagon road and yet no road worth the name has been constructed and no equivalent has been rendered for this vast tract of land. Of course it is an outrageous fraud both upon the general government and the state of Oregon. But the land office ought not to waste all its indignation on this one fraud. There are several more in our state of the same kind. One of these wagon road grants extends from Eugene City away into southeastern Oregon, and another extends from the Dalles to the boundary line of Idaho. The so-called roads built over them are precisely of the same character as that extending from Albany which the land office now denounces. None of these roads have any objective point beyond the obtainment of the land grant; they meander all over the country so as make the routes as long as possible, and are so laid as to follow all the valleys that can be reached in order to take up all the fertile land. We speak now of the routes adopted, for roads there are none. Years ago THE OREGONIAN denounced those high handed acts of fraudulent land grabbing through which millions of acres have been taken away from the people and passed into hands of speculators, and now that the attention of the country is called to the subject in so emphatic a manner by the general land office we trust that congress will declare the grants forfeited by fraud, and proceed to restore the land to the public domain.

It should be observed, however, that the road companies are not the parties solely in fault. Congress is censurable for having granted tracts of land so large for objects of so little importance, and the authorities of our state in accepting the grants and in certifying that the roads were built and completed in accordance with the terms of the several acts under which the lands were granted, made the state a party to these fraudulent transactions. Of course the grants were made by congress for the purpose of causing the construction of good wagon roads. But they were accepted by the state and certified to the designated companies, not for the public good, but for private benefit. The object was not to get roads, but to enrich certain individuals who were made beneficiaries of the grants. The original parties to whom the grants, or at least two of them, were certified, have sold out to others, who, whatever frauds may now be discovered and established, claim to be in secure possession as innocent holders. On this point we express no opinion. But we shall not be surprised to see congress give the whole business a shaking up.

LOSS OF THE CARRYING TRADE.

American ship building seems destined soon to become one of the lost arts. It appears from the annual report of the register of the treasury that there has been during the past year a decrease of 100,500 tons in the total tonnage of the United States, while the amount of ship-building has been less by 35,620 tons than during the year 1879. The simple fact is that American shipping is being destroyed by our tariff and navigation laws. Every year makes this fact more apparent. Nearly every one of the great trans-Atlantic steamship lines is having new steamers built, but not one of them is being built in America. Perhaps there is no better practical commentary on the influence of protection in general than is afforded by the condition of ship-building and ship owning in the United States.

The perfection of protection is prohibition. Under the hollow plea of affording protection to American ship-building we prohibit our citizens from buying or selling ships of foreign build. But such are the duties levied on materials that go into ship-building that notwithstanding the absolute monopoly offered them under this law, our ship-builders can not build ships at a profit. It is illegal to buy them; we can not build them except at a loss, and hence our merchant marine goes on declining at a rate which promises soon its virtual extinction. Though the bulk of our foreign commerce is now prodigious and is still growing at a rapid rate, the proportion of it carried in American bottoms continues to diminish. Once this proportion was 95 per cent. Now it is [illegible] per cent. Our people are shut out from participation in the vast profits of the carrying trade because our government will not permit them to buy ships where they can buy them cheapest—the only condition on which they can sail them at a profit. We should laugh at so narrow a policy in the Chinese. And yet we cling to it as if it were founded on surest maxims of accepted wisdom.

It is demonstrated that as matters now stand we can't build ships, and therefore our citizens ought to be allowed to buy them. The first step in getting away from this exploded system of mediæval economy which is summed up in the word "protection," should be taken by adoption of the principle of free trade in ships, and in the materials of which ships are constructed. Adherence to the present system will only cause our tonnage to dwindle more and more every year. Look at the profits Great Britain makes in the carrying trade. If we want to secure opportunity for our own citizens to participate in this great activity we must change our policy. We have tried the old way long enough.

ENGLAND AND THE IRISH QUESTION.

Lords Beaconsfield, Salisbury and other leaders of the conservative or tory party of England are making bitter attacks on the course of the new liberal government upon the Irish question. Mr. Jennings writes to the New York World that Beaconsfield fully believes that he will again be at the head of the government within a year. All advices indicate that some loss of strength in the liberal majority is likely to take place upon reassembling of parliament, but it is considered highly improbable that the party will be turned out of office. Yet the tory leaders will make a savage attack upon the government, and Mr. Gladstone will probably be obliged to fight hard to sustain himself.

Those pleasant volumes written by Mr Justin McCarthy, entitled "A History of Our Own Times,"—we notice in another place the concluding volume—are highly entertaining as an account of the long rivalry between Disraeli and Gladstone. It is a contest that began forty years ago, and the history of their alternate triumphs is as full of interest as anything in the annals of similar contests in England, rich as those annals are in events and incidents of this description.

Mr. Froude, the historian publishes in the London Times a long article in review of the Irish troubles, in which he declares against Mr Gladstone and predicts that his policy, if persisted in will culminate in the most serious consequences. Indeed the result Mr Froude thinks will be nothing less than civil war. But Mr Froude is an advocate of rigorous rule in Ireland. His historical writings abundantly show his bias in that direction. No doubt "home rule" as the chief agitators understand it is inconsistent with maintenance of British authority in Ireland. But when the Gladstone government at the last session of parliament introduced its bill to meet some of the more flagrant abuses of the Irish land system there was nothing in that proposed act which indicated that government was willing as Mr Froude declares it was or now is to grant the demand of the Irish members for home rule. Popular sentiment appears to have been on the side of this bill but the peers rejected it and it failed to become a law. Even if the entire population of Ireland supported home rule the government could not grant it unless it was ready to concede the same privilege to Scotland and Wales and such concession would be the entering wedge which would split the United Kingdom into four distinct countries—a consequence which no body of Englishmen would allow themselves to contemplate as among even the most remote of possibilities.

As matters now stand government is likely soon to proceed to put down an attempt at revolution by a show of great force. It is now filling the barracks of Ireland with English troops. That is one way of preventing the overt act but all the troops in the world could not crush nor diminish in the least degree the discontent and protest of Ireland against perpetual ill treatment and gross injustice. The government adheres to its old policy of treating Ireland as a conquered province and keeps a pretty rough and heavy heel upon the necks of the people. Even a liberal government dares not make any concessions to threats of violence and avowed revolution and should an outbreak occur that party might be swept out of power as by a whirlwind. In such emergencies a revival of the thorough might be the only policy which would please the majority of the English people.

THE NEW YORK FIGURES

In the official vote of New York by counties as published by this journal yesterday Kings county (Brooklyn) was put down as having thrown 71 751 votes for Garfield and 61 062 for Hancock. The figures made the vote for Garfield in the county 20 000 too large. It was 51 751 and Hancock's majority in the county was 9 311.

It may be added here that analysis of the vote of the state of New York and comparison of the same with that of the last presidential election show that there was not only no excess of vote in ratio to population but that not more than seventeen twentieths of the real legal vote of the state was polled. The increase of Garfield's vote over that for Hayes is 13.55 per cent. The increase for Hancock over Tilden is 2 89 per cent. Returns of the census show a rate of increase of population considerably greater than this increase of the vote. Figures derived from analysis of the vote point to the conclusion that the young men who have recently become voters have mostly cast their fortunes with the republican party.

The table shows that the republicans add to their vote in every county in the state except Chemung, Chenango Schuyler and Tompkins. The democratic gains of Hancock over Tilden's vote are invariably in counties having large towns and cities, and in counties where hard shells and Hunkers used to predominate twenty-five years ago.

It is ascertained that of $528,100 950 worth of United States registered 4 per cent bonds $271,435 900 worth are held by citizens of our own country, and $6 831,450 worth by foreigners and foreign banking establishments. The national banks hold $136,526 700 and other banks and trust companies hold $113,306,900. Of the $170,280,000 registered 4½ per cent bonds, our citizens hold $72,010 900 and foreigners hold only $5,167 550. The national banks own $39 461 950 and other bank and trust companies $53 620 400. Of the bonds held in our own country, 19 9 10 per cent are held in the eastern states 54 4-10 in the middle states 14 2-10 in the western states, and 3 5-10 per cent in the southern states. About 30 per cent of the bonds held in the eastern states are owned by women, 19 per cent by the women in the middle and western states and 22 per cent in the southern states. It appears that the Yankee women are the most thrifty, and western women the least so.

It is admitted on all sides that General Grant's services to the country have been of inestimable value. Even by those who have most severely criticised his achievements in civil administration no question has ever been raised about the surpassing value of his other services. It is now proposed in congress to restore him to the rank of general, but not require of him any active service. In this position the emoluments would be sufficient for his wants. The act would be as small a recognition as the country could afford for such services as he has rendered. In no other country on the globe would a man who has performed such services be left to find his own means of support.

Beaconsfield's new novel, "Endymion" has appeared in New York. The Harpers and the Appletons both publish cheap editions. "Endymion" is described as a novel of European and especially English politics and society. Between the characters of the book and many men who have held high places in England there is a half-avowed resemblance which it is said can be easily traced by one who knows anything of the social and political life of the country. In England the book is having an immense sale, so great indeed that it is said that the author who is a poor man will derive profit enough from it to relieve him of all possible pecuniary embarrassment during the remainder of his life.

Now that the president of the United States has drawn the attention of congress in so marked a manner to the necessity of improving the Columbia river for commerce will not the board of trade of Portland the chamber of commerce of Astoria and our citizens generally join in an effort to press the subject still more on the attention of congress and do it at once? It was found out long ago that the gods help those who help themselves.

In the city of Philadelphia there are 9050 manufacturing establishments employing 197,964 persons. The annual wages paid amount to $69 027,832 and the value of goods produced is $322 984 461. And this is in great degree what makes Philadelphia a more considerable city than Portland.

A telegram from Washington announces the possibility that Howard will be made a major general. No officer of the army better deserves promotion. His services in the war were fully equal to those of Hancock and others who were given this rank long ago.

A Salt Lake paper says that never since the coming of white men to the great basin has a winter started off there so sullen and cold as the present one. The cold wave has rolled over the whole country unusually early this year.

We hope Gen Hazen who has been appointed comptroller of the weather will speedily assume his duties as the weather we have been having shows conclusively that the bureau at Washington needs a responsible head.

Mr Blaine ridicules the idea of making ex presidents life senators at large. He says that under such rule Virginia would have had at one time five senators and Ohio would be likely to have four or more.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—12:30.—For the northern and central Pacific coast region, partly cloudy or cloudy weather with rain.

CITY.

EAST PORTLAND SALOON QUESTION.—The war between the saloon men of East Portland and the municipal authorities of that place has been commenced. The ordinance which was recently passed by the board of trustees, prohibiting the keeping open of saloons on Sunday, has been contested and the case has been decided adversely to the city. The case of John DeBorst, who was arrested a few days ago charged with violation of the ordinance, came up for trial before Recorder Saunders on Tuesday evening. The defendant demanded a jury trial, which was granted. Judge J. H. Woodward, the city attorney, appeared for the municipality, while Judge Bellinger, J. M. Gearin and E. Mendenhall appeared in behalf of the defendant. Several witnesses were examined and argument made by opposing counsel, when the case was submitted to the jury. After a short deliberation the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and the defendant was discharged. There are two other complaints filed with the recorder for the violation of the same ordinance—one against C. H. Barist and the other against Mr. Myers. Mr. Barrist's case is set for this evening at 7 o'clock.

HE DIDN'T "SKIP."—Harry Hendrickson, who is under bonds to answer a charge of kidnapping, went up to the courthouse yesterday morning to hear, as he supposed, Judge Stott pass sentence against Edward Mordaunt, who has been convicted of the same crime with which Hendrickson stands charged. Instead of sentencing Mordaunt, the court heard the argument on the motion for a new trial and took it under advisement. Hendrickson's bonds were fixed at $1000 and while he was in the court room the district attorney moved that the bail be increased to $500. No sooner had Hendrickson heard Mr. Caples' motion than he got up quietly and stole out of the room, intending doubtless to furnish "leg bail." Sheriff Buchtel, however, kept his weather eye open and following him out overhauled him on the stairway. Judge Stott allowed the motion and the bonds were increased to $500. As Hendrickson was not able to furnish bonds, he was marched below by the sheriff and now looks mournfully between cruel iron bars.

CHANGE OF NAME.—The Oregon Churchman says: "It is now settled that a change has been made in our missionary jurisdiction, other changes must necessarily follow. The Churchman will undoubtedly be under the direction of two bishops instead of one, and will advance the interest of the church in the two jurisdictions. The name of the paper must be changed. Bishop Morris has suggested the name of the Columbia Churchman. After consultation with two of the publishing committee this name has been decided upon, and under this name it will be published on and after January 1, 1881. It is proposed to make the paper a semi-monthly early in the year, but not till we hear more definitely from the new bishop for Washington.

COASTING TRADE.—The Astorian says: "The coasting trade between Astoria and Tillamook, Yaquina, Shoalwater, and Gray's harbor ports, is carried on by a fleet of fine little vessels,—the steamer Kate and Annie, the Pilot's Pride, of Astoria, the Alpha, and the Kate L. Heron, but it is far more trouble to look after them and keep a record of their arrival and departure than it is to keep track of the great fleet of the world. This is because they are a privileged class of vessels. They are not required by law to report anywhere.

ONE YEAR.—The grand jury of the state circuit court returned a true bill yesterday afternoon against Joseph Campbell, charging him with the crime of larceny from a dwelling—stealing a coat from the Norton house. The coat was valued at $4. Campbell was called into court when district attorney Caples read the indictment. He entered a plea of guilty, and waiving time, was sentenced by Judge Stott to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary. He will probably be conveyed to Salem to-day.

THE POOR FARM.—It is learned from Mr. Robert [illegible], the superintendent of the county poor farm, that there are now at the farm 22 persons. The inmates are all in good health except one or two who are rather in poor health. During the ten years Mr. Cleghorn has been in charge twenty or thirty persons have been buried in the Potter's field. The coroner now uses this field for the burial of persons who have neither friends nor money.

SOCIAL EVENINGS.—To-morrow (Friday) evening will be given the first of a series of social gatherings by the ladies of the Unitarian church at their chapel, corner of Yamhill and Seventh streets. There will be a short programme of musical and literary exercises—enough to vary the entertainment of the evening, the remainder to be devoted to social enjoyment. Strangers and visitors especially welcomed and made to feel at home.

EARTHQUAKE AT NEW TACOMA.—From passengers who arrived last evening on the Kalama boat, we learn that a shock of earthquake was felt at New Tacoma at six o'clock Tuesday evening. The wave passed from north to south, and the oscillations lasted several seconds. Dishes, lamps and earthenware were rattled, but there was no damage worthy of mention. Buildings on the hill felt the shock stronger than those bordering the bay.

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL.—Gen. J. H. Eaton, treasurer of Good Samaritan hospital, acknowledges the following thanksgiving offerings to that institution: Trinity church, Portland, $97 05; St. Stephen's chapel, Portland, $32 50; St. David's church, East Portland, $9 60; St. Luke's church, Vancouver, $12; total, $151 15. In addition to the above cash receipts St. Stephen's chapel, Portland, contributed articles for the hospital valued at $30.

AFFLICTED.—Mr. James Powell, of East Portland, of the Telegram, is sorely afflicted, three of his children being sick with the scarlet fever, and his wife confined to her bed, being worn out and sick from nursing her little ones. Two of the children are now improving, and considered out of danger, but the third is yet very low, and it is feared that she will lose her hearing if she recovers at all.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.—His excellency Governor Thayer on Tuesday last commuted the sentence of [illegible], who was convicted in this county October, 1880, and sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary for the crime of larceny of a kit of carpenter's tools from a warehouse. His sentence was commuted on the recommendation of the judge and the prosecuting attorney of this district.

OFFICERS.—At an election of officers of Seaside Lodge, No. 12, A. O. U. W., at Astoria, the following officers were chosen: C. J. Trenchard, P. M. W.; [illegible], M. W.; C. Brown, G. F.; C. W. Fulton, O.; I. W. Gearhart, Recorder; J. W. Robb, Receiver; [illegible], Financier; J. M. Olsen, Guide; O. P. [illegible], I. W.; John Lawson, O. G.; I. W. Case.

RIGHT OF WAY ASKED.—A gentleman who is prominently connected with the O. R. and N. Co., made application to Mayor Kenworthy, of East Portland for permission to run a railroad track down K street to the river. The application has been taken under advisement by the board of trustees and that body will probably decide the matter in a few days.

MAIL TO TROUTDALE.—Capt. Harlow has been awarded the contract for carrying the mail between East Portland and Troutdale, on Sandy, once a week. The first trip over the route will be carried on Friday. Hereafter readers of THE OREGONIAN on Sandy will receive their papers on Friday evening.

ANNUAL BALL.—At the last regular meeting held by Willamette Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, it was determined to hold their annual ball on New Years' eve. The management of the affair was entrusted to W. S. Kerns, R. Baldick, H. McEwan, Frank [illegible] and Kirk Shelden.

TRUE BILLS.—The grand jury yesterday returned "not true bills" in the following cases: State vs. [illegible] Wilson and Henry Wheland, charged with [illegible]; State vs. Samuel S. Stephens, charged with [illegible]; State vs. John Prechtel and Henry Hense, with larceny.

THE WEATHER.

In the absence of anything else to excite comment, discussion on the probabilities of the river's opening still takes the time of all classes of shippers. Telegrams to the O. R. & N. Co., report milder weather, but not sufficiently warm to raise the blockade. The Kalama boat met some floating ice, but not enough to detain her. It is likely that the lower end of the gorge at Willow bar is giving away. Following are the dispatches from eastern Oregon:

MORNING REPORT, 8 O'CLOCK.

A QUICK SUMMONS.

Henry Webber, a Prisoner, Drops Dead in the County Jail.

One of the prisoners confined at the county jail, named Henry Webber, dropped dead yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Up to the moment of his death, Webber seemed to be in the enjoyment of perfect health—smoking his pipe, laughing and chatting with the other prisoners. Webber was engaged in washing his shirt when the sudden and fatal summons came. He straightened up from the tub quickly, and raising his hands, staggered back and fell. Several of the prisoners who saw him fall ran and picked him up. Supposing that Webber had fallen in a fit, they dashed water in his face hoping to revive him. However, the vital spark had forever flown. Death must have been instantaneous, for he never spoke a word. Heart disease is the attributed cause of death. Webber was found guilty of three separate charges of petit larceny in the police court and committed to the county jail by Judge Stearns on the 20th day of last October. The total period of confinement was about seven months. The deceased was aged about 44 years. So far as is known he has neither relatives nor friends in this state. Coroner Garnold was notified and caused the body to be removed to the morgue.

OPEN TEMPERANCE CONCERT.

The concert given at New Market last night in aid of the Open Temperance Society, was not as well attended as the merits of the exercises deserved, though the dress circle was filled with some of the best citizens of Portland. The programme as published, was carried out with promptness and smoothly. The opening piece was a piano duet, "Golden Youth Gallop," by Sidney Smith, executed by Messrs. Brown and Elwer, with great precision and consummate skill. Mr. Van Beurden has improved since we last heard him sing and gave Bastiani's "Diserti in Terri" to a well pleased audience. Miss Inez Sexton, a new star in Portland, made her debut in Donizetti's "O Mio Fernando." She has a voice of great power and compass, which she controls with wonderful skill, giving a truthful expression to the sentimental, as well as a correct execution to the scientific parts of her pieces. Miss Sexton by her first effort won the favor of her hearers and retained them throughout the evening. Miss Hattie Summerfield, with great good taste, executed a piano solo. Her touch is of an exact, crisp kind, which gives a peculiarly pleasing character to the music which she evokes. Mrs. C. A. Dolph, whose readings always entertain and delight hearers, rendered "The Famine," by Longfellow, as she does everything she attempts, in an excellent manner. Mrs. H. J. Bird, with a truthfulness to the sentiment of the piece and in a truly artistic style, gave "The Irish Emigrant's Lament," which, as well as most of the preceding exercises was heartily applauded. The violin solo by Mr. E. E. Coursen, accompanied by Mr. S. Harris on the piano, was a gem in its way and demonstrated Mr. Coursen's skill as a manipulator of the bow. "Tacea La Notte," from "Il Trovatore," was sung by Miss Cora Packard in a way which showed that she fully understands the difficulties of the piece and possesses the ability to overcome them. Miss Packard is improving rapidly and will soon be in the front rank of our local singers. Mrs. Dolph favored the audience with one or two more selections, and Dr. Bird gave some familiar selections on the crystallino. Mr. J. C. Williams, also new to a Portland audience, sang "Non e ver," by Mattei. He has a good tenor voice, but the one short piece rendered by him hardly sufficed to enable his auditors to pass a well informed judgment on his merits as a singer. Miss Sexton sang "Una voce Poco fa," by Rossini, and Mrs Summerfield and Mr. Harris gave a piano duet, both being done in the highest style of the musical art, and left the audience well pleased. The singers were all accompanied by Mr. E. E. Coursen on a magnificent Weber piano from the house of D. W. Prentice & Co.

Barnum's Growing Fame.

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.]

That forgery will be probed to the bottom. Philip is not the only rascal; more likely the tool. But for that forgery Garfield would have had a solid north. We doubt whether, under the circumstances, there is an honorable man in the United States who does not consider Barnum a great scoundrel, and who does not believe, on general principles, that he ought to be severely punished.

FEES OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

Dec. 8, 1880.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I shall be sorry if the new law relating to fees of sheriffs and clerks prove as defective as you fear. I hope it does not give those officers the salaries provided and leave them entitled also to receive a large portion of the fees, insomuch that the remainder to be paid into the county treasuries will be insufficient to pay the salaries allowed. But we are no worse off than under the old law. A large part of the fees now paid clerks and sheriffs come out of the county treasuries, and are paid by direct taxation of the people. "And those who have nothing to do with litigation are taxed to pay the expenses accruing from the lawsuits of their neighbors." By ascertaining what amounts are paid from the treasury of Multnomah county to its sheriff and clerk per annum, you can ascertain the amount of such tax levied in that county. If the law is defective, as I fear it may be, don't let us repeal it and go back to the old system, but let us amend it so that the clerks and sheriffs shall receive the salaries fixed for them, and NO MORE.

CARD OF THANKS.

At a meeting of the Relief Society held Dec. 7th it was voted that the thanks of the society be tendered to our citizens for the assistance they have again rendered the society by their generous thanksgiving donations; to THE OREGONIAN for a year's subscription of their paper for the home; to the business men, who have given liberal contributions of money, and to those who have given supplies of groceries, clothing, etc.

The contributions in money amounted to $[illegible]. The donations of groceries, clothing and general supplies for the Home were not as large as in previous years, but owing to no lack of generosity on the part of the citizens, but because the bags were not distributed as formerly, and the arrangements made by the society were not generally understood.

The society feels truly grateful to our citizens, who have again given such substantial proof of their interest in the work of relieving the destitute. The inclement weather of winter will add largely to the number of those needing such assistance, and also to the number of inmates at the home.

It will always be the endeavor of the society to expend its funds with such discriminating liberality as shall meet the approval of its generous contributors.

THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 9, 1880.

A LIST OF HORRIBLE MURDERS.

Double Tragedy at Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 8.—This afternoon a terrible and fatal affair occurred between two well known police officers, in which Officer John Brophy was instantly killed by Officer Tom Casey. The two officers were watching in different beats in the locality of the Nashville railroad shops, and about the time named met in a little signal shanty at the railroad crossing on Kentucky street, between Ninth and Tenth. The two officers not being on very friendly terms soon quarreled. Casey drew his knife at the same time Brophy got out his pistol. Brophy fired, the ball striking Casey near the right shoulder, but whether the shot was fired before Casey had cut Brophy or not is uncertain. Both attacks were near the same instant. Casey jabbed his knife deep into Brophy's bowels just over the right hip. Brophy did not fall at once, however, but striking Casey, knocked him down and jumped on him. Casey then reached around his antagonist and attempted to stab him in the back, but before he could succeed a bystander had secured his knife and dragged the two men apart. After being pulled off of Casey Brophy said, "I am cut bad," and turning on his side on an ash pile in the gutter, he died. Casey was taken to his home immediately. Brophy was picked up and taken to a room across from where the tragedy occurred. Casey's physician says that he has some chance of recovery. Both were esteemed members of the police force.

Mysterious Murder in Minnesota.

WADENA, Dec. 8.—News has been received of the brutal murder of Ort Hendrickson, in Todd county, 12 miles southeast from here. Sunday morning last he started deer hunting with his brother, and they parted company in the woods two miles from home. In about half an hour three shots were heard and when the brother reached the spot he found Ort's dead body, with three rifle balls in it and a knife plunged to the hilt through the body in various places. The brother followed the trail of the murderers six miles and lost it.

A Murderous Maniac.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—A Chester, Ill., special says: A man named Louis Lockstein, living a short distance from Chester, became insane a few days ago from religious excitement. Yesterday he was taken before the court by a deputy sheriff, adjudged insane and placed in charge of two guards to be taken to the asylum at Jacksonville. The guards took the man to a hotel in town and remained with him all night. About six o'clock this morning he called for water to wash himself. One of the guards brought him some in a basin, which he took and immediately flung it into the guard's face. He then dashed through a front window of the room and ran down the road leading out into the country, the blood streaming from his hands from cuts made by the broken glass. About a quarter of a mile from town, in the house of Thomas Ryan, an old man of 68 years, with whom lived his widowed daughter, Mrs. Smith, and her little girl of twelve years, and boy still younger. At this house Lockstein, who had stripped himself naked on the road, rushed wildly in, ordered the inmates to kneel down and pray, saying they had but 25 minutes to live. They all obeyed but the little boy, who escaped from the house, ran to the neighbors and gave the alarm. When friends arrived at the scene, they found Ryan and Mrs. Smith dead, with their skulls smashed in by an axe, and the little girl lying headless on the floor, the maniac having chopped the child's head completely off. Having finished his bloody work at this place, he seized the bloody head of the innocent child by its long, auburn hair, and, swinging it over his own head, he dashed down the road again. About a quarter of a mile beyond, he stopped at the house of Dr. Gordon, which he entered. He found only a servant girl, whom he ordered, as he had the Ryan family, to kneel and pray. The girl screamed, which brought a hired man from the stable, and Dr. Gordon appearing at the same time, after a fierce and desperate struggle they overpowered and bound him with a rope. He was then taken to Chester and his wounds dressed, clothes put on him and placed in charge of the persons who brought him to East St. Louis to-night, and took him thence to Jacksonville.

A Crazy Murderer.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Dec. 8.—Louis Lockstein, who butchered the Ryan family at Chester yesterday, was formerly a Catholic farmer, but became insane on religion, and his mania ran on making persons pray with and for him. Saturday he made his sister kneel on the street and pray, and said that the world would come to an end in a few days. He tells a crazy story regarding his part in the tragedy, claiming that he was saving the family from burning a house. The Ryans were a highly respected family. There was great excitement and a strong disposition to lynch Lockstein, and the officers had to hustle him across the country to a small way station.

Murder in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, Dec. 8.—In Newbury county in this state a shocking tragedy occurred Monday. John Lyles married a Miss Thomas of Union county several years ago. She died and he married her youngest sister, who died within a year. Lyles then married Miss Gilliam of Newberry. James Thomas, father of the first two wives, met Lyles at Newberry when a dispute arose about property, and Thomas killed Lyles. Before Lyles fell he shot Thomas and his son. The young man has since died.

FEAR OF THE WHIP.

Opposition to the Use of the Lash in America—Wholesome Effect of Flogging on British Brutes.

[New York Journal of Commerce.]

A few days since one of the most brazen-faced ruffians who ever stood up in a British court, suddenly wilted and uttered a scream on hearing the terms of the judge's sentence, and was taken away in a fainting condition. He had no defense. The evidence against him was conclusive. He was sure of conviction and of a severe sentence, and he knew it. But he was not prepared for one part of the punishment prescribed by Justice Stephen. He screamed and almost fainted, not in view of the twenty years of penal servitude, but because the judge ordered, as a fitting prelude, thirty lashes.

This man had robbed and attempted to murder by drugging, and then throwing from a railway carriage a traveling companion, in whose confidence he had ingratiated himself. It was a premeditated crime of the most heinous kind. It would have ended in murder but for the inability of the assassin to eject his victim from the car before the train stopped. The ruffian then escaped with his booty, but was followed by the half-stupefied, badly-injured man, who staggered upon the platform and gave an alarm which led to the capture of the assailant. This strange affair took place in a car of the London underground line, of which the two men were the only occupants.

Justice Stephen, in passing sentence, said it was the "most cowardly and brutal outrage that had ever been brought under his notice." He marked his sense of horror, as well as made the sentence a wholesale caution to all other like-minded desperadoes, by adding the thirty lashes to the twenty years' imprisonment. The prisoner would not have flinched from the incarceration, but he winched terribly under the judgment of the cat, as if he already felt the nine tails raising wales on his bare back.

It is the uniform experience of British judges that corporal punishment is the most certain known deterrent of cowardly and brutal offenses. When any peculiarly shocking crimes against the person begin to become common in England, the judges always check it by ordering a dose of the cat well laid on in addition to a long term of imprisonment with hard labor. This is the best known preventive of outrages on women and children. It is the only thing that has put a stop to garroting. Its success is so marked in the declining frequency of cruel and malicious assaults upon the person in England that the British public almost unanimously approve of it. Only a little minority of those philanthropists whose sympathies for criminals rise in exact proportion to the diabolism of their proteges, continue to protest against the lash as a remedial agent of society. While that agent does so manifestly good a work in England it will be judiciously conserved there.

The theoretical opposition to it in the United States is widespread and intense, as any man finds out to his cost who proposes to reintroduce it in our judicial system. But now and then thinking Americans will brave the consequences and ask themselves and their neighbors if corporal punishment, so common among our ancestors as a penalty for minor violations of law, might not be revived, with signal advantage to society, for the punishment of certain specially atrocious crimes.

Civilization in Colorado.

Out in Colorado they recently had a ball at which four women were present. There was great rejoicing. The editor of the nearest paper said: "We have entered upon a new era." Previously the Pinalites had never had anything but stag dances. This enthusiasm of the people of Pinal is a reminder of early days in these mines. Quite a sensation was created on Gold Cañon, at Silver City, when a family boasting of two girls settled there. The first time they stretched their clothes line on the banks of the cañon and hung out their washing, every man at work in the neighborhood dropped his shovel and stood spell-bound. "Well, well, this is civilization!" was the cry all up and down the cañon. The boys were so modest that in passing to and from their meals, they made a circuit of about half a mile in the hills to get around the house of the new family. Said these modest miners: "They have no other place where they can stretch their clothes-line and it is not right for us to go by there when there is anything on it."

The Story of the Shoe.

[From the Cornhill Magazine.]

The modern shoe has been evolved by a succession of slight modifications and enlargements out of a very simple primitive covering. In the ages of stone and bronze man appears to have protected his foot by a piece of bark or leather laid under the sole and fastened in a very simple manner about the foot with straps. Out of this grew the sandal with its broader and more elaborate bands, reaching above the ankles, such as we see it represented in the art of ancient Egypt and later. From the sandal, again, was developed, by the addition of a fine leather below the straps, as well as the broadening of the straps, the germ of the shoe proper, an arrangement illustrated by the Greek half-boot. The completion of this process of development was the doing away with the band and the making of the upper leather firmer.

What Spoiled the Fraud Cry.

[From the Washington Sunday Herald (Dem.).]

The cipher telegrams, as this journal always maintained, spoilt the fraud issue from the start, because in order to maintain such an issue effectively it must not appear that those who make the outcry have merely been beaten at their own game. Yet after the elections of 1878-79 had shown that the fraud issue was impotent the Barnumites tried to make it the chief question of the campaign. Then after they had taken the steps which lost Indiana and made Hancock's election impossible, they did their best to degrade the great party they misrepresented, and the people's chieftain who was towering so far above them, by abetting—or at least being deceived by—the Morey forgery, as if, not contented with defeating, they wanted to dishonor their party. Those who were misled by its apparent genuineness into treating as true this blackguard's device have ground for righteous indignation at such a fresh exhibition of that spirit of Tildenism which has now freshly consolidated the power of the money monopolists and centralizationists for an indefinite term of years. But then, millionaires like Tilden, Barnum, English, and Belmont never had any logical place in a party which had no reason for existing except as a party of the masses; and a party of the people only reaps the crop it sows when it trusts itself under such inimical leadership.

LITERARY NOTES.

Herbert Spencer has already begun to print his work on "Political Institutions" serially in the Fortnightly Review.

On no other work have so many American artists co-operated as on the subscription edition of Longfellow's works.

The next volume in the "English Men of Letters," promised for December, is Mr. F. W. H. Myers' monograph on Wordsworth.

The death is announced of Miss M. L. Charlesworth, the author of "Ministering Children," and other popular religious books.

Dr. Samuel Smiles has gone back to his first love, and written a volume on "Duty" as illustrated by courage, patience and endurance—a companion volume to "Self Help."

The two novels which at the moment are engaging attention in England, are "The Clerk of Portwick," by George Manville Fenn, and "The Two Dreamers," by John Saunders.

The first number of the Journal of the society for the promotion of Hellenic studies, will be published during the present month in London, with Mr. Percy Gardner as editor.

The forthcoming "Diocesan Histories" for England and Wales, two volumes of which are now ready, will furnish, when completed, a perfect library of English ecclesiastical history.

The commentary on the bible begun by the present bishop of Bedford, Dr. Walsham How, and called the "Society's Commentary" because it is published by the English society for promoting Christian knowledge, has extended to five volumes, the fifth, covering the apocryphal books, having just been completed.

Being congratulated on the large number of books that he had written, Victor Hugo replied, at a dinner recently: "I have more books to write than I have already written. And yet I am conscious of having worked; I have fulfilled the task for which I was placed in the world, and I am going to the Infinite untroubled."

The late Dr. J. S. Brewer's forthcoming "English Studies" will contain essays on "New Sources of English History," "Green's Short History of the English People," "The Royal Supremacy and the History of its Introduction," "Hatfield House," "The Stuarts," "Shakespeare," "How to Study English History," and "Ancient London."

After all her varied success in many branches of literature, it is generally conceded that Mrs. H. B. Stowe's best work is confined to her stories written in the Yankee dialect and reflecting the life familiar to her when she was Dr. Lyman Beecher's daughter and had not yet left the paternal homestead. The volume entitled "Sam Lawson's Oldtown Fireside Stories," enriched by three new sketches, fresh from the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., is in her most characteristic vein, and will be regarded in the future, as it is to-day, as, perhaps, our best specimen of the humor behind the grim visage of the New England Puritan.

A Liberal Editor.

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

We were grieved to read the other day of the death of one of Michigan's jolliest pioneer editors—almost the last man of a band who published weeklies in the state when a coon skin would pay for a column "ad.," and three bushels of corn dumped on the office floor, stood for a year's subscription. Never a publisher was more liberal with his space. It was hard work for him to charge for anything except the tax list and mortgage sales, and he measured short even on them. One day, in the years gone by, his paper copied an attack on a county official, and old Mark was dozing at his desk when the injured party stalked in and began:

"You are a coward, s-r—a—coward!"

"Mebbe I am," was the editor's complacent reply.

"And I can lick you, sir—lick you out of your wrinkled old boots!"

"I guess you could," answered Mark, as he basted the wrapper off his only exchange.

"I'm going to write an article calling you a fool, liar, coward, cur, slanderer and body-snatcher, and go over to Ionia and pay five cents a line to have it published."

"Hey?" queried the old man as he wheeled around.

"Yes, I'll pay five cents a line to have it published!"

"Say, let me tell you something," replied Mark. "I've got 200 more circulation than the Banner, and I'll publish your attack on me for two cents a line, and take it out in mill feed or cornstalks. Don't trot over to Ionia, when you can help build up your own town."

Mark would have published it word for word, just as he said, and thrown in the cut of a horse or stump puller free gratis, but the official cooled off.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for Liquor, that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady and he has remained a sober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. THE GENUINE

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.
